RAILWAY CABOOSE ON THE MOVE -- Elk Point Historical Society's CN caboose hit the road for Heinsburg last Thursday, via truck. The unit will be on permanent loan to the Heinsburg Community Club, who will locate the caboose near their historic water tower and their train station to enhance these unique tourist attractions for the community. To haul the massive unit, it was lifted off its wheel units, which were loaded on one of the picker trucks (above), before two trucks from Larry's Picker Service lifted the caboose off its blocks as Ron Campbell backed his lowboy trailer under it (top right). After being carefully secured on the flatbed, the unit was on its way, (right) via Highways 41 and 646, to its new home.

Council forms doctor recruitment steering committee

In the wake of an announcement by Elk Point Health Centre that Dr. Keith McNeilly will give up his active care privileges as of February 17, 1996, Elk Point Town Council has spearheaded a steering committee to look into recruitment of an additional physician.

Mayor Ed Buck and councillors Dan Povaschuk and Ron Smith, who volunteered for the committee, plan to approach the County of St. Paul, the Chamber of Commerce and the native reserves in the area for help in their search. Council also discussed what help or incentives could be given to an incoming doctor.

The committee fears that the reduction to only one doctor with active care privileges could lead to further reductions in service and in emergency care at the health centre.

Council approved an Airport Commission recommendation that the Town and County take over the responsibility for all maintenance and upkeep at that facility on a 50-50 cost sharing basis. Airport ownership is scheduled to be turned over by the Department of Transportation to the Town later this year. Mayor Buck noted that in many cases, rural airports are being turned over to the counties and municipal districts in which they are located. Elk Point's situation is somewhat unique, in that oil companies working in the area, the Town, County and Department of Transportation all put funding toward the cost of lengthening the runway at the airport.

Council has not yet received any word from the Agricultural Society's Fairgrounds and Livestock Division on matters including drainage and the keeping of livestock at the site during the winter, and is eager to get these matters settled. The Fairgrounds Arena is the only recreational facility in town which has not been billed for water, and Council agreed to correct this matter by sending out bills for water use as of January 1, 1996. The hockey arena and curling rink both pay for their water.

Council is setting up a joint meeting with the County of St. Paul, to discuss matters of mutual concern. These joint meetings have become a yearly tradition, and give the two councils an opportunity to talk about the various shared services and programs, such as fire protection, ambulance service and sanitary landfill.

Major pipeline planned for area

ELAN Energy Inc. and Gibson Petroleum Company Limited announce that they have entered into an agreement to construct a 150 kilometre oil pipeline from Elk Point to Hardisty, AB. Ownership of the pipeline will be held in a private company owned 50/50 by Gibson and ELAN.

The pipeline will have an initial capacity of 50,000 barrels per day and is projected to be completed by November 1, 1996. Significant expansion of the line is possible if shipping demand requires. ELAN and Gibson intend to debt finance the estimated $35 million capital cost.

Gibson will construct and operate the pipeline and will be providing terminal facilities at Hardisty for all of the oil shipped on the pipeline. This pipeline is an extension of Gibson's base business of transporting, terminalling and marketing crude oil and provides the company with an opportunity to expand its business in an area of Alberta where substantial growth is expected.

The pipeline will provide ELAN with secure long-term transportation for its production in the area and will generate improved revenues. ELAN currently produces approximately 15,000 barrels of oil per day (12,000 net to the company) in the Elk Point region and, in 1996, plans to spend up to $35 million on capital projects in the area to further increase operations.

Five point weekend for Thunder

Elk Point Midget Thunder picked up five points this weekend when they won two games and tied one in league play.

Friday night the Thunder hopped the bus to Saddle Lake to meet the Warriors and came home with a 6 - 0 win. Goals were scored by Rene deMoissac, Ferlin Quinney, Jordan Bassett, Brad Pankiw, Derek Cusack and Tyson Hawryluk. Thunder goalie BJ Tucker registered his first shutout for the year.

On Saturday, the Thunder made another road trip to Provost. Early in the first period team captain Kristen Holthe scored on a power play. Provost tied it up but Thunder took the lead again when Ferlin Quinney scored short-handed. Provost scored again for a 2 - 2 tie after one period. Thunder dominated the second period with two goals, by Clayton Cardinal and a second by Kristen Holthe, for a 4 - 2 lead. Provost scored right off the third period faceoff and pressured the Thunder who tried to hold on for the win but ran out of gas. The game ended with a 4 - 4 tie.

Sunday the Thunder were at home to the Wainwright Bisons. Chris Berlinguette opened the scoring at 19:30. Rene deMoissac scored on a rebound from Tyson Hawryluk and Brad Pankiw scored short-handed. The Bisons scored the next three to tie the game, before Ferlin Quinney put Thunder back in the lead. The only second period goal was by Clayton Cardinal. Early in the third, Marty Bendixen scored on a breakaway pass from Derek Cusack. The Bisons scored one more for a final 6 - 4 score of in favor of Thunder.

This Wednesday, Thunder travels to Kitscoty to meet the Pitbulls. On Friday night, Viking, who leads the south division, visits the Thunder dome for a good matchup.

Lend-a-hand taxation workshop will train volunteers

FCSS is working in cooperation with Revenue Canada and the County and Town of St. Paul FCSS departments to recruit and train volunteers to assist people in completing their tax returns — people who need a helping hand. This service is provided to:

- * low income earners who cannot afford to pay a fee for simple tax help;

- * the disabled who may be unable to travel for assistance;

- * immigrants and new Canadians who may not understand English or French;

- * the elderly, whose circumstances may limit the understanding of tax forms.

Volunteers can attend a workshop to learn how to complete straightforward tax returns. The free workshop will be held on Wednesday, January 31, 1996 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Elk Point Seniors Centre. For those unable to attend during the day, a workshop is being held the evening of January 30 at the County Office in St. Paul. Reference materials and ongoing assistance will be provided by Revenue Canada. Volunteers just need to bring a calculator, brown bag lunch, and enthusiasm! Once the course is completed, FCSS matches volunteers with clients. All information is kept strictly confidential. To register or for more information, call 724-3800.

PROBLEM GAMBLING — WHEN IT'S NO LONGER A GAME

Gambling is an increasing activity across our province. Albertans account for 59% of lottery sales in the three western provinces and two territories. VLT revenues continue to grow. For some people it is no longer a game, it's an addiction.

This 3-hour workshop will provide an overview of gaming and activities, the signs of problem gambling with an exploration of possible contributing factors, and information on the kinds of help available for gamblers and their family members.

DATES: January 25 (1:00 - 4:00 p.m.); and March 6 (9:00 a.m. - 12 noon)

PLACE: AADAC Seminar Room, 4448 - 50 Ave., St. Paul

FEE: $10 (includes materials and refreshments)

TO REGISTER: Call AADAC at 645-6346

STOPPING ABUSE BEFORE IT STARTS

A community is whatever entity provides services of various kinds to families and influences them in a number of ways. Several aspects of community functioning contribute to abuse in families:

- Lack of appropriate accessible support services: The manner in which communities organize their services, particularly if the services are not accessible to some families or are inappropriate, can contribute to abuse in families in several ways:

- *The absence of needed services during difficult times can add to any stress the family may already be experiencing.

- *Communities without accessible and appropriate services for families are giving the message that families should be self-sufficient and if they are not, there is something wrong with them. For those families who do need services, this contributes to feelings of incompetence, which in themselves produce stress.

- *Communities which do not ensure that needed services are available and accessible to families do nothing to overcome the isolation which is another contributing factor.

Lack of opportunities for learning about family living:

Developing the necessary skills and knowledge for establishing and sustaining nurturing family relationships must be learned. If people do not learn about positive relationships in the families they grow up in, they will need help from their communities to do so.

Denial of existence of family violence:

Communities which deny or ignore the existence of family violence contribute to the problem by keeping it a private matter, thereby allowing the abuse to continue without detection.

By not acknowledging that abuse is occurring, the community contributes to the abused persons' beliefs that they are the only ones being abused. Such beliefs keep many abused persons from seeking help.

TREAT FRIENDS, KIDS THE SAME

On TV the other day, a leading child psychologist said parents should treat their children as they would treat their best friend... with courtesy, dignity and diplomacy.

"I have never treated my children any other way," I told myself. But later that night, I thought about it. Did I really talk to my best friends like I talked to my children? Just suppose our good friends, Fred and Eleanor, came to dinner one night and...

"Well, it's about time you two got here! What have you been doing? Dawdling? Leave those shoes outside, Fred. They've mud on them. And shut the door. Were you born in a barn?"

"So, Eleanor, how have you been? I've been meaning to have you over for such a long time. Fred! Take it easy with the chip dip or you'll ruin your dinner. I didn't work over a hot stove all day long to have you nibble like some bird."

"Heard from any of the gang lately? Got a card from the Martins. Yes, they're in Lauderdale again. They go every year to the same spot. What's the matter with you, Fred? You're fidgeting. Of course, you have to go. It's down the hall, first door on the left. And I don't want to see a towel in the middle of the floor when you're finished."

"Did you wash your face before you came, Eleanor? I see a dark spot around your mouth. I guess it's a shadow. So, how're your children? If you ask me, I think summer school is great for them. Is everybody hungry? Then why don't we go into dinner. You all wash up and I'll take up the food. Don't tell me your hands are clean, Eleanor. I saw you playing with the dog."

"Fred, you sit over there, and Eleanor, you can sit with the half glass of milk. You know you're all elbows when it comes to milk. There now, your host will say grace."

"Fred, I don't see any cauliflower on your plate. Have you ever tried it? Well, try a spoonful. If you don't like it, I won't make you finish it, but if you don't try it, you can forget about dessert. And sit up straight or your spine will grow that way. Now, what were we talking about? Oh yes, the Gerbers. They sold their house. I mean they took a beating but... Eleanor, don't talk with food in your mouth. I can't understand a word you're saying. And use your napkin."

At that moment in my fantasy, my son walked into the room. "How nice of you to come," I said pleasantly.

"Now what did I do?" he sighed.

Get Involved

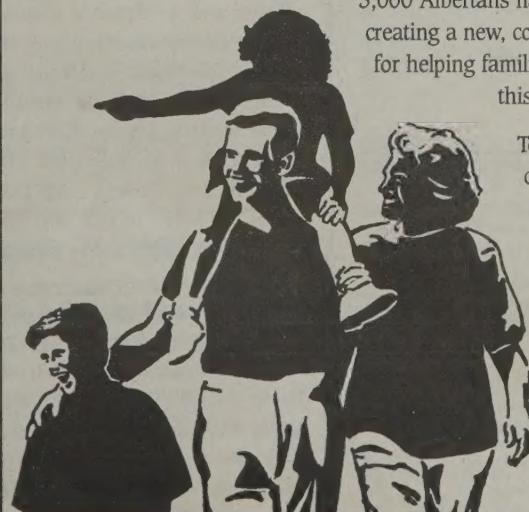

Families and children in your community need your help.

Local working committees are looking for new ways to plan and deliver services to Alberta's families and children. Included are the entire range of child welfare and family support programs. It will be a system where people from the community decide upon the best ways to meet the needs of local families and children.

Your ideas, suggestions and involvement can help meet the specific needs of families and children in your community.

Everyone has something to offer. In the past year, more than 3,000 Albertans have come forward to play a role in creating a new, community-based, preventive system for helping families and children. You can take part in this important planning.

To find out how you can get involved, call 310-0000, toll-free and ask for the nearest office of the Commissioner of Services for Families and Children.

View Points

ELK POINT PATHFINDERS -- will be visiting Elk Point businesses this weekend to distribute information on the law against selling cigarettes to minors, as part of the Health Unit campaign to stop teen smoking. Front, left to right, are Roberta Keichinger, Erin Bintz, Marci Bintz and Carlen Mutch, while in the back row are Patricia Keichinger, Aleisha Birkett, Terina Nixon and leader Carmen Lefebvre.

Reasons to quit

So, you don't believe all the claims on the cigarette packages, that smoking will endanger your health and that of those around you. You haven't seen any of your friends or relatives die from cancer or emphysema, and you can't think of any reason you want to give up your habit.

Have you thought that maybe it's hurting you somewhere else, like in your wallet?

If you smoke just half a pack a day, at five bucks a pack, that money could take you a lot of places.

In one week, it could take you and a friend to lunch.

By Valentine's Day, it could take you and your sweetheart to dinner, or buy a dozen roses.

By next New Year's, it could take two of you for a weekend at Jasper, or even to Las Vegas.

Wouldn't that be better than having nothing to show for your money than full ashtrays and brown fingers? Think about it.

Withdrawal means recovery

Alberta Lung Association
Contributor

You may be one of the lucky smokers who don't go through withdrawal, or you may experience only a few symptoms. In any case, getting past this stage means recovery.

The good news is that withdrawal symptoms are temporary, usually lasting only one to three weeks. Once they pass, you'll never have to deal with them again as long as you stay tobacco-free.

Here are the most common withdrawal symptoms and some tips on how to deal with them from the Alberta Lung Association.

Dry mouth, sore throat, gums or tongue: Sip cold water or fruit juice or chew sugarless gum. This should replace the moisture that tobacco used to produce.

Coughing: Sugarless candy, cough drops or warm herbal tea can help deal with the extra mucus produced by the lungs as they clear themselves of tar and nicotine.

Hunger: Drink plenty of water and eat low-fat, low-calorie food. This will help you overcome the common trap of reacting to a craving for tobacco as if it were a hunger pang.

Trouble sleeping: Avoid coffee, tea and other caffeinated beverages after 6 p.m. Try deep breathing and relaxation methods to relax.

Irregularity: Adjust your diet slightly by adding roughage like raw fruits and vegetables and whole grain cereals. Drink six to eight glasses of water a day.

Fatigue: Go to bed early to help your body heal itself and adjust to the lack of artificial stimulation of nicotine. Step up your physical activity.

Tension, irritability: Take walks, soak in a hot bath or use relaxation methods to reduce tension.

Poor concentration: Deep breathing and exercise will increase the supply of oxygen to your brain and help avoid the feeling of being "spaced out." Avoid alcohol which cuts oxygen to the brain.

Building a new habit

Beginning with Q-Day, you've kicked the tobacco habit. But now you need to develop a new habit, not smoking. Like any other habit, it's not acquired overnight, but takes time and practice.

Nutrition Notes

Good nutrition gives you a competitive edge

By Shelley Miller-Hertes
Registered Dietician

Elk Point Health Centre

For athletes, good nutrition prior to competition is a concern. You want to have enough energy, but fear eating too much might take away your competitive edge. So what should an athlete eat before competition?

The pre-event meal should be consumed two to four hours before the event. The foods eaten should be familiar to the athlete and preferably consist of high carbohydrate, plenty of fluids, moderate amount of protein foods, low in simple sugar content, low in fiber and fat, and low in salt and caffeine. If there is less than two hours before the event or game, a smaller meal is recommended.

High carbohydrate foods include pasta, cereals, grains, rice, or canned and fresh fruit. These foods are quickly and easily digested by event time.

Foods or beverages high in sugar are not recommended.

These foods promote water to move from body tissues into the intestines causing abdominal cramping and/or diarrhea. Diluted fruit juices are recommended.

Fat is digested and absorbed slowly. Therefore avoid margarine, butter, mayonnaise, salad dressing, cream sauces, peanut butter, and fried foods such as doughnuts, chips, or fries.

Protein takes longer to digest than carbohydrate. Good choices include lowfat dairy products, lean meats, tuna, or poultry. Avoid high fat meats like regular hamburger, chicken burgers, fried chicken or fish, sausage, and high fat deli meats.

Sodium and alcohol lead to dehydration. Caffeine-containing beverages act as diuretics. Fluids such as water, diluted fruit juices, and lowfat milk are recommended to promote adequate hydration.

Good luck in your event or game.

Tips for quitting smoking: right after Q-Day

 Be realistic. Be ready to deal with the fact that you can't block out cigarettes completely in just a few days.

 Take advantage of non smoking areas as much as possible. Go to places where it is impossible to smoke, no matter how much you want to. Try libraries, museums, theaters, department stores.

 Drink large quantities of water and fruit juice.

 Avoid alcohol, beverages containing caffeine and any others you associate with smoking.

 If you miss holding a cigarette, keep other objects close by: paper clips, beads, keys or a pen.

 If you miss having something in your mouth, try a toothpick, stir stick or sugarless gum.

The Alberta Lung Association has 22 Freedom From Smoking facilitators across Alberta. Call 1-800-661-LUNG to find out if a professionally facilitated program is in your area.

with my sleep patterns. Visitors to the library this past week got to see my impression of the lead zombie from "Night of the Living Dead." We did manage to take down the Christmas decorations and put a few new books into the collection. Last week it was juvenile books. This week, adult books get their moment in the spotlight.

New books by four popular authors:

A Gown of Spanish Lace by Janette Oke. A young school-teacher is kidnapped from her loving home in a small community and wonders if she will ever wear her wedding gown of Spanish lace.

The Statement by Brian Moore. A war criminal is sheltered from justice for over forty years by the Catholic church and the French government. Now time is running out for him as justice seeks its target.

Magic: The Final Fantasy Collection is Isaac Asimov's final original collection of fantasy stories containing all of his uncollected fantasy stories that have never before appeared in book form. Also included are Asimov's writings on the field of fantasy itself. A must read for Asimov fans as well as fantasy fans.

Hope by Len Deighton. The second book in the Faith, Hope and Charity trilogy. Bernard Samson is unwillingly drawn back into the "game" only this time there is no clear enemy as he is caught between his past and his future. The library also has Faith and other books by Deighton.

New in nonfiction:

The Faithful Gardener by Clarissa Pinkola Estes is a collection of elegantly interlocked tales of loss, survival and rebirth which center around Estes' uncle, a war-ravaged Hungarian peasant farmer and refugee.

Ribbon Basics by Mary Jo Hiney and Joy Anckner is a beautiful introduction to what is becoming a popular craft. Learn the different stitches and techniques to make beautiful pictures using silk ribbon.

How to Buy a Computer or Upgrade What You Have by Myles White gives expert advice in plain English, not computerspeak, on nearly everything you need to know before purchasing a computer, upgrading your existing equipment, or adding peripherals.

A Penny Saved by Neale S. Godfrey shows parents how they can use money as a teaching tool to give children the life skills and values they will need to survive and thrive in society.

Leaning on the Wind by Sid Marty is all about Marty's exploration of the land in which he lives, the Chinook country of Alberta.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory
John Bodnar

It's been seven years since you left us. We, your family, miss you lots, and will never forget the happiness you brought to our lives, and the memories you have given us.

*The sudden way you had to leave
We shall always remember and wonder why
To know we never said goodbye
The things we feel so deeply
Are the hardest things to say;
But we, your family, love you
In a very special way
They say that memories are golden*

*Well that may be true
But we never wanted memories
We only wanted you.
If tears could build a stairway,
and heartaches make a lane,
We as your family,
Would walk the path to heaven
And bring you home again.*

Sadly Missed - Love Mom and Alex and Family.

THANK YOU

ZAYONCE

We would like to thank Dr. D. Ramful and staff for the care you gave our husband and father.

Special thanks to Rev. Norm Hartley, the Choir, Yewchin's Funeral Chapel, pallbearers and to all our friends and family for their support and encouragement at our difficult time.

Elaine Zayonce and Gwen

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

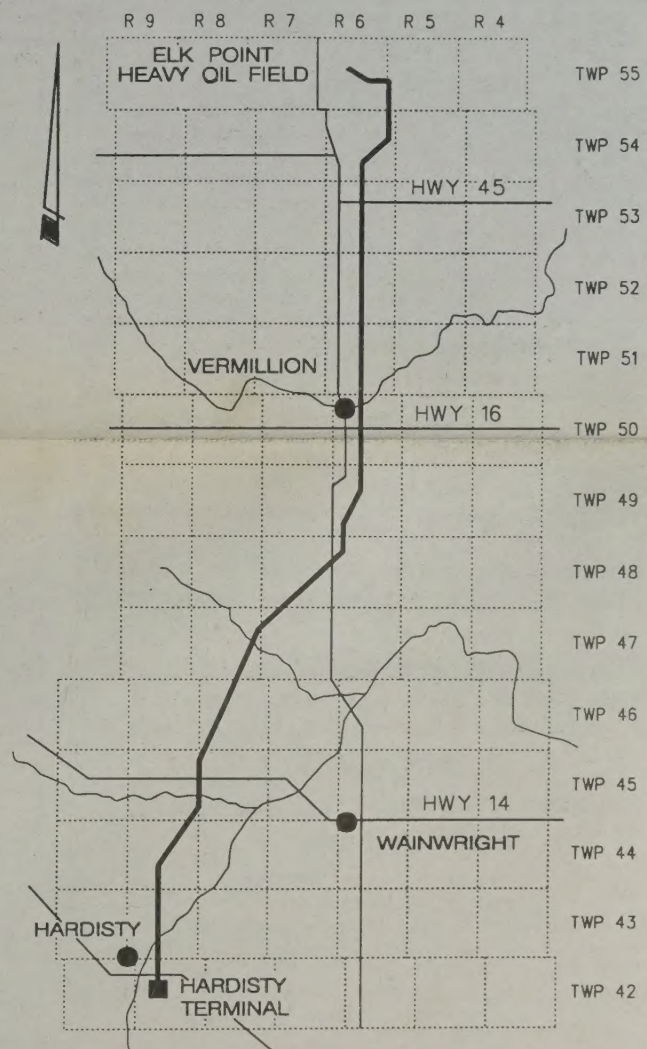

Gibson Petroleum Company Limited transports and markets crude oil, condensate and natural gas liquids from producers in Western Canada to markets throughout North America. Gibson currently operates two oil gathering systems, storage and truck terminal facilities in the Hardisty area and is active in the oil producing fields throughout the Hardisty and Elk Point areas.

GIBSON IS PROPOSING TO CONSTRUCT NEW PIPELINES

A 12 inch pipeline is proposed to deliver heavy crude oil from producing fields in the Elk Point area to the Hardisty Terminal. In addition, a 6 inch pipeline is proposed to deliver condensate for blending purposes from Hardisty to the Elk Point area. The planned pipelines will be constructed at the same time and installed in a common ditch. The proposed route for these pipelines is shown on the map at right.

WE WELCOME YOUR INPUT

Meetings have been arranged to introduce the project to everyone in the affected communities and to give the public an opportunity to ask questions and raise any concerns. Gibson representatives will be available to answer any questions and to note your concerns. This is your chance to have input into the project. We look forward to your attendance.

WHEN AND WHERE

The meetings have been scheduled from 7:00 PM to 9:00 PM as follows:

Wednesday, January 17, 1996
Brunswick Motor Inn (Brunswick Rm.)
 Vermillion, Alberta

Thursday, January 18, 1996
Hardisty Community Hall
 Hardisty, Alberta

Coffee and Snacks will be served
